YOUR PROBLEM BEGINS WITH WATER

- MOLD
- MILDEW
- STANDING WATER
- ROTTEN WOOD
- DRYWALL CRACKS
- MUSTY ODORS
- HEALTH RISKS
- STICKING DOORS
- SINKING FLOORS
- HIGH HUMIDITY

When water invades your home, it always causes problems. When you weigh the potential outcome of structural damage and health risks, it's a problem you want to solve immediately.

In a perfect world, exterior footing drains would function properly for the life of your home and water would be efficiently diverted away from your foundation. Since that scenario is not achievable, you are likely to experience the negative effects of water creeping into your basement or crawlspace at some point down the road.

The exterior waterproofing systems installed around your foundation inevitably fail, allowing ground water to put pressure on the walls and floor of your foundation. Once this occurs, your basement or crawlspace will begin to allow water to leak through. If this scenario becomes a reality for you, rain will no longer be your friend. When you see a heavy rain coming, it's only a matter of time before you'll have to get the towels, mop and shop vac to start bailing water out of the basement.

Your water problem will continue to occur, and in many instances get much worse, until it is properly addressed. You must implement a solution that permanently protects all five areas water can penetrate your foundation. Once you've done that, there will be no more sleepless nights during rain storms.
